

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A metal heat diffusion member is formed below a transparent electrode by way of an insulation film such that the metal heat diffusion member is superposed on the transparent electrode . The heat diffusion member includes a projecting portion at a portion thereof remoter than a distance between the heat diffusion member and a thin film transistor, and the heat diffusion member is superposed on the transparent electrode at the projecting portion.